DETAILED ACTION

The Office acknowledges the receipt of Applicant's preliminary amendment filed on 25 October 2005. Claims 2-250 have been cancelled. Claim 1 is pending and examined.

Information Disclosure Statement

Applicant's Information Disclosure Statement (IDS) filed 27 March 2007 has each been received and entered into the application. As reflected by the attached, completed copies of form PTO-1449A, the Examiner has considered the cited references.

Claim Objections

Claim 1 is objected to because of the following informalities: claim 1 recites "substituting the prototype compound with a phosphonate-containing group," which does not confer the same meaning as "substituting a functional group on the prototype compound with a phosphonate-containing." The former phrase renders only a phosphonate-containing group not a complete compound. The latter phrase renders a phosphonate-modified compound. Appropriate correction is required.

Double patenting

The nonstatutory double patenting rejection is based on a judicially created doctrine grounded in public policy (a policy reflected in the statute) so as to prevent the unjustified or improper timewise extension of the "right to exclude" granted by a patent and to prevent possible harassment by multiple assignees. A nonstatutory obviousness-type double patenting rejection is appropriate where the conflicting claims are not identical, but at least one examined application claim is not patentably distinct from the reference claim(s) because the examined application claim is either anticipated by, or would have been obvious over, the reference claim(s). See, e.g., In re Berg, 140 F.3d 1428, 46 USPQ2d 1226 (Fed. Cir. 1998); In re Goodman, 11 F.3d 1046, 29 USPQ2d 2010 (Fed. Cir. 1993); In re Longi, 759 F.2d 887, 225 USPQ 645 (Fed. Cir. 1985); In re Van Ornum, 686 F.2d 937, 214 USPQ 761 (CCPA 1982); In re Vogel, 422 F.2d 438, 164 USPQ 619 (CCPA 1970); and In re Thorington, 418 F.2d 528, 163 USPQ 644 (CCPA 1969).

A timely filed terminal disclaimer in compliance with 37 CFR 1.321(c) or 1.321(d) may be used to overcome an actual or provisional rejection based on a nonstatutory double patenting ground provided the conflicting application or patent either is shown to be commonly owned with this application, or claims an invention made as a result of activities undertaken within the scope of a joint research agreement.

Effective January 1, 1994, a registered attorney or agent of record may sign a terminal disclaimer. A terminal disclaimer signed by the assignee must fully comply with 37 CFR 3.73(b).

Claim 1 is provisionally rejected on the ground of nonstatutory obviousness-type double patenting as being unpatentable over claim 1 of copending Application No. 10/424,186. Although the conflicting claims are not identical, they are not patentably distinct from each other because the instant claim anticipates the copending claim, or in other words, the copending claim falls entirely within the scope of the instant claim. Both sets of claims are drawn to inventions with essentially the same limitations.

This is a provisional obviousness-type double patenting rejection because the conflicting claims have not in fact been patented.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

(a) the invention was known or used by others in this country, or patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country, before the invention thereof by the applicant for a patent.

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

Claim 1 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. §102(e) as being anticipated by Hale et al. (U.S. Pat. No. 6,319,946, effectively filed 12 February 1999).

The claimed invention is a method comprising substituting a non-nucleotide prototype compound with at least one phosphonate-containing group to produce a candidate compound and determining the anti-HIV activity of the candidate compound.

Hale et al. teaches the claimed method of substitution of compounds of HIV protease inhibitors with phosphonate groups (column 105, lines 48-63) and screening compounds for anti-HIV activity (column 1, line 24). The HIV protease inhibitors (see columns 7-10, for example) are non-nucleotide compounds. Hale et al. discloses the phosphonate ester (PO₃-) functional group (column 105, line 61) as one of the five functional groups in a preferred ester of the compound. Hale et al. specifically discloses substituting one group in the prototype compound with PO₃-R³ (column 8, line 56) or PO₃Na₂ (column 10). The phosphonate ester substitution in the HIV protease inhibitors meets the claim limitation of producing a candidate compound by substitution with a phosphonate-containing group.

Conclusion

No claim is allowable.

Applicant is reminded that any amendment must point to a basis in the application as filed so as not to add new matter. See MPEP §714.02 and §2163.06.
